

PLAN A

IS CAPITALISM AND FOR MOST OF US IT CLEARLY ISN'T WORKING

PLAN B

LOOKS NOSTALGICALLY BACK TO THE STRUCTURES THAT A WHOLLY DIFFERENT WORKING CLASS MIGHT HAVE STRUGGLED FOR

WE THINK IT'S TIME FOR

PLAN C

If you feel that both the political parties and the open network forms of organising of the last century had reached their limits by the time the crisis hit; if you're pretty convinced that there's an alternative way of working together that neither entails 'unity' nor warring sects; if you want to be in an organisation where we actively encourage each other to have ideas, begin from everyday life, and treat living under capitalism as a dynamic experience, join Plan C here:
